CMAI strengthens sustainable fashion with the SU.RE website & supply chain directory

The Clothing Manufacturers Association of India (CMAI) has launched the SU.RE website and the SU.RE Sustainable Supply Chain Directory, marking a significant step in India's sustainable fashion movement. The website serves as a comprehensive platform to facilitate the Indian apparel industry's transition to sustainable practices, while the directory features 600+ verified vendors across key categories such as fabric manufacturers, recyclers, sustainable packaging experts, and certification bodies. These initiatives provide brands with valuable resources, foster collaborations, and enable responsible sourcing with ease.

The SU.RE - Sustainable Resolution website offers education, resources, and a collaborative space for brands, manufacturers, and stakeholders. It provides valuable insights through news articles and case studies, showcasing industry leaders' sustainability efforts. The Open Source Supply Chain Directory connects brands with sustainable vendors specializing in fabrics, trims, manufacturing, packaging, and recycling, enabling seamless sourcing and best practice sharing. The platform also facilitates knowledge exchange and transparent communication through dedicated sustainability initiatives and events.

Developed in collaboration with the Centre for Environment Education (CEE) and the Global Alliance for Textile Sustainability (GATS), the SU.RE Sustainable Supply Chain Directory serves as a one-stop platform to facilitate knowledge-sharing, innovation, and accessibility in sustainable sourcing. By streamlining connections between fashion brands and eco-conscious suppliers, it fosters a seamless transition to greener production processes. This initiative is particularly crucial as the Indian sustainable fashion market is projected to grow at a CAGR of 45%, expanding from INR 2,700 Cr in FY24 to INR 25,000 Cr in FY30.

Sustainability is no longer a choice but a necessity, as the fashion industry continues to grapple with environmental and ethical challenges. For instance, washing clothes 200 times a year consumes nearly 15,000 liters of water and energy, while less than 50% of textile waste is reused or remanufactured. Adopting mindful laundry habits and implementing sustainable production processes can significantly reduce this impact. Moreover, the Indian fashion industry also faces ethical concerns, including lack of transparency and weak enforcement of labor laws, particularly in informal sectors. Addressing these issues through responsible sourcing and ethical manufacturing practices is critical for the industry's long-term sustainability.

The SU.RE (Sustainable Resolution) initiative is India's largest voluntary commitment to sustainability in the apparel industry. An initiative of CMAI, jointly with Reliance Brands Limited (RBL) and supported by the United Nations in India, SU.RE has driven industry-wide efforts since 2019 to promote responsible sourcing, eco-friendly materials, and ethical manufacturing.

At its core, SU.RE follows a five-point manifesto guiding the industry's transition towards sustainability:

- Environmental Awareness – Understanding the environmental impact of garment production.
- Sustainable Sourcing – Prioritizing certified raw materials with a positive environmental impact.
- Responsible Decision-Making – Ensuring sustainability across the value chain through traceable, renewable materials and processes.
- Transparent Communication – Engaging consumers and media through product labeling, social media, and in-store messaging.
- Long-Term Commitment – Aiming for a significant shift towards sustainability by 2030, addressing climate change and supporting the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

With the introduction of the SU.RE website and the Sustainable Supply Chain Directory, CMAI is equipping brands with the tools and resources to drive meaningful change in the fashion industry. The website and directory were officially launched at Bharat Tex 2025, marking a major milestone in India's journey toward a more responsible and globally competitive apparel sector.

टेक्सटाइल और गार्मेंट सेक्टर के लिए सीडीबी का सीएमएआई और सचिन इंडस्ट्रीज सोसाइटी के साथ समझौता

हमारे प्रतिनिधि

सुरत। कपड़ा उद्योग के लिए दो महत्वपूर्ण समझौते किए गए हैं। इनमें से एक समझौता क्लोथिंग मैनुफैक्चरर्स एसोसिएशन ऑफ इंडिया (CMAI) और दूसरा सचिन इंडस्ट्रियल को-ऑपरेटिव सोसाइटी के साथ स्मॉल इंडस्ट्रीज डेवलपमेंट बैंक ऑफ इंडिया (SIDBI) द्वारा किया गया है। इन नए समझौतों के तहत उद्योगपतियों को बिना किसी गारंटी (कोलेटेरल) के 5 करोड़ रुपये तक का लोन उपलब्ध होगा। साथ ही, सरकार की कई योजनाओं के तहत कम ब्याज दर पर लोन की सुविधा भी मिलेगी।

SIDBI के साथ हुए इस नए समझौते से छोटे और मध्यम उद्यमों (SME) को विशेष लाभ मिलेगा। खासतौर पर टेक्सटाइल उद्योग को विशेष सहायता दी जाएगी, जिसमें रेपीयर, वॉटर जेट, एयर जेट मशीनों और गार्मेंट सेक्टर के अपग्रेडेशन का समावेश होगा। इसके अलावा, उद्योगपतियों को आसान लोन और वित्तीय सहायता भी दी जाएगी।

उद्योगपतियों के लिए सबसे बड़ी राहत यह होगी कि उन्हें बिना किसी गारंटी (कोलेटेरल) के लोन उपलब्ध कराया जाएगा। यदि किसी के पास गारंटी नहीं है, तो वे केवल कुल लोन राशि का 25% जमा करके आसानी से लोन प्राप्त कर सकते हैं। गौरतलब है कि CGTMSE योजना के तहत बिना गारंटी के लोन की सीमा वर्तमान में 5 करोड़ रुपये है, जिसे पिछले बजट में 10 करोड़ रुपये तक बढ़ाने की घोषणा की गई थी। इस योजना के तहत 90% से 95% तक की फंडिंग CGTMSE द्वारा सपोर्ट की जाएगी। यदि कोई व्यक्ति 5 करोड़ रुपये तक का लोन लेना चाहता है और उसके पास कोलेटेरल नहीं है, तो उसे केवल 25% राशि निवेश के रूप में दिखानी होगी।

लोन पर ब्याज दर

8.75% से 9.75% के बीच होगी, जो यूनिट की रेटिंग पर निर्भर करेगी। साथ ही, नए समझौते के तहत SIDBI को लोन प्रक्रिया 45 दिनों में पूरी करनी होगी।

इसके अलावा, CMAI और

सचिन इंडस्ट्रियल को-ऑपरेटिव सोसाइटी अपने कार्यालयों में SIDBI सहायता केंद्र स्थापित करेंगे, जहां वित्तीय और तकनीकी सहायता प्रदान की जाएगी। राज्य सरकार की नई टेक्सटाइल नीति में SIDBI को विशेष महत्व दिया गया है, जिससे यह कहा जा सकता है कि इस समझौते से कपड़ा उद्योग को अधिकतम लाभ मिलेगा।

सचिन इंडस्ट्रियल को-ऑपरेटिव सोसाइटी के सचिव मयूर गोलवाला ने कहा कि यह दो महत्वपूर्ण समझौते टेक्सटाइल और अन्य उद्योगों से जुड़े व्यापारियों के लिए एक बड़ी पहल है। SIDBI द्वारा दिए जाने वाले सुविधाजनक लोन, सरल प्रक्रिया और सरकारी योजनाओं का सहयोग उद्योग के विकास में सहायक सिद्ध होगा।

समझौते के दौरान SIDBI के नरेश बबूता, एस. मुरलीधरन, आकाश सुमन, CMAI के अजय भट्टाचार्य, सचिन इंडस्ट्रियल सोसाइटी के अध्यक्ष निलेश गामी और सचिव मयूर गोलवाला सहित कई प्रमुख लोग उपस्थित रहे।

सीएमएआई की सेमिनार घरेलू बाजार में गारमेंट निर्यातकों की मदद को गियर का प्लेटफॉर्म

जयपुर | अंतरराष्ट्रीय बाजार में बढ़ती मुश्किलों के मद्देनजर गारमेंट एक्सपोर्टर्स एसोसिएशन ऑफ राजस्थान (गियर) ने गारमेंट निर्यातकों को घरेलू बाजार में कारोबार बढ़ाने में मदद के लिए प्लेटफॉर्म तैयार किया है। वहीं, गियर और द क्लोथिंग मैनुफैक्चरर्स एसोसिएशन ऑफ इंडिया (सीएमएआई) ने गारमेंट निर्यातकों के लिए 'घरेलू बाजार में अवसर' विषयक सेमिनार आयोजित की। इसमें सीएमएआई के चीफ मैटर राहुल मेहता ने बताया कि ग्लोबल एक्सपोर्ट मार्केट दबाव में है। ऐसे में गारमेंट निर्यातकों को घरेलू बाजार में संभावना तलाशनी चाहिए। उन्होंने सीएमएआई के 21 से

23 अप्रैल तक मुंबई में होने वाले फैब शो और दिल्ली में 27 से 29 मई तक होने वाले गारमेंट फेयर में राजस्थान के उद्योगपतियों को आमंत्रित किया। गियर के अध्यक्ष रक्षित पोद्दार ने कहा कि निर्यात बाजार में अनिश्चितता रहती है, जबकि मांग बढ़ने से निर्यातकों का फोकस घरेलू मार्केट में बढ़ा है। महासचिव अमित सोमानी ने कहा कि निर्यात की तुलना में घरेलू बाजार में चुनौतियां कम हैं। सेमिनार में सीएमएआई के प्रेसिडेंट संतोष कटारिया, महासचिव नवीन साइनानी, नॉर्डन रीजन चेयरमैन अर्जुन भट्टाचार्य और गियर के पूर्व अध्यक्ष जाकिर हुसैन के साथ गारमेंट निर्यातक और उत्पादक शामिल हुए।

CMAI Strengthens Sustainable Fashion with the SU.RE Website & Supply Chain Directory, Connecting 600+ Vendors Across Key Categories

Mumbai: The Clothing Manufacturers Association of India (CMAI) has launched the SU.RE website and the SU.RE Sustainable Supply Chain Directory, marking a significant step in India's sustainable fashion movement.

The website serves as a comprehensive platform to facilitate the Indian apparel industry's transition to sustainable practices, while the directory features 600+ verified vendors across key categories such as fabric manufacturers, recyclers, sustainable packaging experts, and certification bodies.

These initiatives provide brands with valuable resources, foster collaborations, and enable responsible sourcing with ease.

The SU.RE - Sustainable Resolution website offers education, resources, and a collaborative space for brands, manufacturers, and stakeholders.

It provides valuable insights through news articles and case studies, showcasing industry leaders' sustainability efforts.

The Open Source Supply Chain Directory connects brands with sustainable vendors specializing in fabrics, trims, manufacturing, packaging, and recycling, enabling seamless sourcing and best practice sharing.

The platform also facilitates knowledge exchange and transparent communication through dedicated sustainability initiatives and events.

Developed in collaboration with the Centre for Environment Education (CEE) and the Global Alliance for Textile Sustainability (GATS), the SU.RE Sustainable Supply Chain Directory serves as a one-stop platform to facilitate knowledge-sharing, innovation, and accessibility in sustainable sourcing.

By streamlining connections between fashion brands and eco-conscious suppliers, it fosters a seamless transition to greener production processes.

This initiative is particularly crucial as the Indian sustainable fashion market is projected to grow at a CAGR of 45%, expanding from INR 2,700 Cr in FY24 to INR 25,000 Cr in FY30.

Sustainability is no longer a choice but a necessity, as the fashion industry continues to grapple with environmental and ethical challenges.

For instance, washing clothes 200 times a year consumes nearly 15,000 liters of water and energy, while less than 50% of textile waste is reused or remanufactured.

Adopting mindful laundry habits and implementing sustainable production processes can significantly reduce this impact.

Moreover, the Indian fashion industry also faces ethical concerns, including lack of transparency and weak enforcement of labor laws, particularly in informal sectors.

Addressing these issues through responsible sourcing and ethical manufacturing practices is critical for the industry's long-term sustainability.

The SU.RE (Sustainable Resolution) initiative is India's largest voluntary commitment to sustainability in the apparel industry.

An initiative of CMAI, jointly with Reliance Brands Limited (RBL) and supported by the United Nations in India, SU.RE has driven industry-wide efforts since 2019 to promote responsible sourcing, eco-friendly materials, and ethical manufacturing.

At its core, SU.RE follows a five-point manifesto guiding the industry's transition towards sustainability:

1. Environmental Awareness – Understanding the environmental impact of garment production.

2. Sustainable Sourcing – Prioritizing certified raw materials with a positive environmental impact.

3. Responsible Decision-Making – Ensuring sustainability across the value chain through traceable, renewable materials and processes.

4. Transparent Communication – Engaging consumers and media through product labeling, social media, and in-store messaging.

5. Long-Term Commitment – Aiming for a significant shift towards sustainability by 2030, addressing climate change and supporting the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

With the introduction of the SU.RE website and the Sustainable Supply Chain Directory, CMAI is equipping brands with the tools and resources to drive meaningful change in the fashion industry.

The website and directory were officially launched at Bharat Tex 2025, marking a major milestone in India's journey toward a more responsible and globally competitive apparel sector.

M&S introduced new brands Hush

Mumbai: Hush and Whistles, two womenswear brands, have been added to 'Brands at M&S,' a platform for third-party labels, by British department store Marks & Spencer.

For the first time, the site will host an exclusive line for Hush's debut, which will include a 12-piece collection. It will be one of the more than 300 seasonal styles that both brands will offer on the marketplace. The two labels were launched in response to the expansion of womenswear on 'Brands at M&S,' which saw an 18 per cent increase in sales in 2024 over the previous year. Womenswear is therefore a top-performing category, accounting for 49 per cent of the platform's revenues.

Hush, debuting on 12th March, and Whistles which will be introduced in April, will join the likes of Baukjen, Nobody's Child and Chinti & Parker which will bring the number of third-party womenswear on the platform to 26.

Throughout the spring and summer, Marks & Spencer will host more Nobody's Child pop-up stores than the previous time the idea was held, spread among 56 of the department store's locations, to further bolster its efforts in this area. Signature dresses, shirts, and blouses from the brand's SS25 collection will be among the 40-piece capsule collections on display at the 500-foot pop-ups.

Value retail: Consumer's delight, industry's opportunity

MUMBAI, MAR 06-

The retail industry in India is undergoing a paradigm shift with the explosive growth of value retail, a segment driven by consumers seeking affordability without compromising on style and quality. This transformation took centre stage at Bharat Tex 2025, where the Clothing Manufacturers Association of India (CMAI) brought together leading industry experts for the panel discussion "VALUE RETAIL: Consumer's Delight, Industry's Opportunity."

Moderated by B.S. Nagesh, Chairman, Shoppers Stop & founder, TRRAIN, the panel featured eminent voices from the retail sector: P. Venkatesalu, CEO & Executive Director, Trent Ltd; Rakesh Kiyani, Mentor, Nexon Omniverse Ltd; Ram Chandra Agarwal, Chairman & MD, V2 Retail Ltd; Rajesh Jain, MD & CEO, Sports and Leisure Apparel Limited (Lacoste India); Vedant Modi, Chief Revenue Officer, Vedant Fashions Ltd. (Manyavar); and Suman Saha, CXO, Myntra.

The Rise of Value Retail in India

The discussion highlighted that value retail is no longer just about low prices—it is about delivering aspirational products at an affordable price point. Panelists emphasized the growing demand for fashion and lifestyle products in both urban and non-urban markets, propelled by increased disposable income, digital awareness, and shifting consumer expectations.

blurred the traditional hierarchy of fashion trickle-down, making style accessible instantly across different demographics.

Suman Saha, CXO, Myntra, shed light on how social media is reshaping consumer behaviour, stating, "Earlier, fashion trends used to trickle down over time. Now, virality on social platforms is dictating demand. 'Farewell Sarees' became a national trend overnight. Consumers today are looking for a combination of affordability, trendiness, and relevance, and brands must be agile to cater to these evolving needs."

Tier 2 & 3 Cities: The Next Growth Frontier

While metro cities continue to drive sales, Tier 2 & Tier 3 cities are witnessing an unprecedented retail boom. Vedant Modi, Chief Revenue Officer, Vedant Fashions Ltd. (Manyavar), highlighted this shift with an example: "One of our largest stores is now in Gorakhpur, spanning 25,000 sq. ft. The spending power in smaller cities, especially during weddings, is astonishing. Instead of opening multiple small stores, we are now consolidating with larger, experience-driven retail formats to better serve these markets."

The Online vs. Offline Debate

Despite the rapid rise of e-commerce, offline retail remains crucial for categories requiring tactile experiences. However, digital platforms are increasingly being leveraged for brand discovery and convenience shopping.

P. Venkatesalu, CEO & Executive Director, Trent Ltd., noted the importance of a strategic approach to omnichannel retail: "The modern consumer is nuanced—she shops across formats. While Gen Z is hooked on digital, Zudio has consciously chosen not to go online. Success lies in making clear choices rather than blindly following trends."

Rajesh Jain, MD & CEO, Sports and Leisure Apparel Limited (Lacoste India), elaborated on the evolving definition of value in retail, "Value can't be defined as just money." He presented a case study: "The customer buying a ₹3,999 Lacoste polo wants to be as

Consortium of Indian Textile Trade Organization release Common 5 Point Joint Agenda at ATEXCON 2024

By Our Special Correspondent

MUMBAI, MAR. 26—

Six major textile industry bodies have come together to propose a five-point agenda to the Government of India, aiming to drive the sector towards achieving the ambitious export target of US$ 100 billion by 2030. This joint agenda was released at 12th Asian Textile Conference (ATEXCON), organized by the Confederation of Indian Textile Industry (CITI) in city yesterday.

The participating organizations include the Confederation of Indian Textile Industry (CITI), Clothing Manufacturers Association of India (CMAI), Man-Made and Technical Textiles Export Promotion Council (MATEXIL), Powerloom Development and Export Promotion Council

(PDEXCIL), The Southern India Mills Association (SIMA), and The Cotton Textiles Export Promotion Council (TEXPROCIL).

The 5-Point Agenda for the Indian Textile & Apparel Industry

(2025-26):

India's textile and apparel (T&A) exports for April 2024 to February 2025 stood at approximately US$ 33.2 billion, marking a 7.2% increase compared to the previous year.

The full-year exports for 2024-25 are expected to reach US$ 37-39 billion. However, to meet the US$ 100 billion target by 2030, the industry must register a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 18%. Despite government efforts, exports have remained stagnant at 2015 levels (US$ 37.15 billion).

To address key challenges and accelerate growth, the textile bodies have proposed the following measures:

1. Ensure the availability of raw materials – Remove all import restrictions and barriers on cotton, man-made fibers (MMF), and specialized yarns, especially those unavailable in required quality or quantity domestically.

2. Remove the 10% import duty on cotton fiber – Address the demand-supply gap of 38 lakh bales to enhance cost competitiveness across the cotton value chain.

3. Introduce an investment incentive scheme – Implement a mix of upfront capital subsidy and performance-based incentives, with a special focus on the processing sector.

4. Fast-track the implementation of PMMITRA parks – Expedite the establishment of integrated textile parks to boost industry infrastructure and attract investments.

5. Accelerate Free Trade Agreements (FTAs) with key markets – Secure agreements with the EU and USA to provide Indian exporters a level playing field.

Additionally, the industry bodies have urged the government not to increase GST rates for ready-made garments and are of the collect opinion that by focusing on these priority areas, the Indian T&A sector will overcome existing challenges, capitalize on global opportunities, and achieve long-term sustainable growth.

The coming tsunami of Chinese exports

As the world erects barriers to shield itself from Chinese imports, India will have no choice but to follow suit

It is now common knowledge that China is the world's manufacturing and trade powerhouse, running a goods trade surplus of $1 trillion — an unprecedented magnitude. The surplus has almost tripled since the pandemic. China runs a trade surplus of over $300 billion with the US, more than $200 billion with the EU, and almost $500 billion with the Global South (the Emerging Market universe). The only countries with which China has a trade deficit are Taiwan and South Korea, due to chip and electronic component imports, and Australia, because of commodity imports.

As the world's factory, China accounts for 32 per cent of global manufacturing value added, followed by the US at 15 per cent. The next two countries, Japan and Germany, have shares of only 6.5 per cent and 4.5 per cent, respectively. Such is China's dominance that its manufacturing sector is twice the size of its closest competitor. This dominance has emerged in just 30 years. In 1995, China's share of global manufacturing value added was less than 5 per cent, trailing behind the US, Japan, and Germany.

China is unique in its dominance of both high-end and basic manufacturing, holding a market share of 65 per cent in EV batteries, electrical equipment, and solar panels, as well as a 50 per cent share in apparel and basic materials. China's manufacturing sector is 10 times the size of India's.

Exports have been a major driver of China's growth and prosperity. However, there is a clear disconnect between its share of global manufacturing and consumption. While China accounts for 32 per cent of global manufacturing, it represents only 12 per cent of global consumption (source: DB, World Bank). Structurally, it produces far more than it consumes and relies heavily on exporting this excess production.

However, with Donald Trump back in power, there is a clear rethink in the US towards global trade and globalisation more generally. The US, and the West more broadly, are thinking deeply about their loss of manufacturing competitiveness from a national security and resilience of supply chains angle. The loss of competitiveness has also increased inequality and hollowed out the middle class, with the US now having less than 10 per cent of its workforce in manufacturing.

There are also fears around deindustrialisation and loss of high-paying jobs. While this sentiment has been growing over the last eight years, China has been able to counter it by routing its exports through other countries. If you see the data, China's trade surplus with the US and EU has hardly grown in absolute terms over the past four years, while it has surged with the Global South, increasing from $300 billion to $500 billion. This surge in trade surplus is not a sudden increase in demand for Chinese goods in the Global South, but rather a rerouting of Chinese exports to the West through the Global South. This is apparent, as the surging trade surplus of China with the Global South is matched by an equally large increase in trade surplus of the Global South with the US.

It is now apparent that the West is determined to prevent this routing of exports. It is evident in the attempts to force Mexico to raise tariffs on China, as well as other trade barriers. Even the EU has got in the game as we can see with the tariffs on Chinese EVs. This gaming of the tariffs is coming to an end.

This brings us to the question, if it becomes more difficult for Chinese products to enter Western markets, where will these goods go? China is not going to stop producing these goods. That would be catastrophic for its economy and risk deflation. Manufacturing employs over 22 per cent of the Chinese labour force and accounts for more than 26 per cent of gross domestic product. It is too big a part of the economy.

Neither is China going to be able to consume all these products domestically. Even if consumption in China were to revive, it would not be able to absorb this scale of trade surplus. While household savings at 32 per cent are slightly above long-term averages, even if savings normalise, domestic consumption will not absorb the excess production. Exports are, in most cases, more profitable than domestic sales, given the hyper-competitive domestic Chinese market for products. Thus, exports will remain a priority for most Chinese companies, all of whom continue to have surplus capacity.

The obvious answer to where the goods will go is the Global South, especially a country like India. The Global South accounts for more than 20 per cent of global consumption and is where the new middle class is being created. This is where China will attempt to sell, this time to serve domestic consumption in these markets rather than as a routing base for onward sales to the West.

China is hyper-competitive and has moved up the value chain in terms of both quality and technology. Its scale is such that it is very difficult to compete. The West will not block basic Chinese goods like apparel or chemicals, as it is impossible to manufacture these products cost-effectively in these countries. The focus will be on blocking higher value-added, more sophisticated products that threaten the remaining industrial base of the West.

The risk for the countries of the Global South is that, as China directs its manufacturing machine towards them, they may struggle to ensure their industrial base remains intact and grows in both size and sophistication. There is a real risk of China overpowering the local industrial base in these countries, which will not be able to compete with the Chinese industrial juggernaut on scale, cost, or technology.

India already has a trade deficit with China of over $100 billion. We import many of the sophisticated industrial products that China is keen to export as it gets blocked out of Western markets. This accounts for 10 per cent of the total trade surplus of China, and half its surplus with the entire EU! We have to be on high alert that this number does not blow out further.

China will have no choice but to dump products into the Global South as barriers in the West keep going up. We run the risk of deindustrialisation and lack of job creation if we let our industries get run over by the Chinese import surge. One of the reasons that Indian private sector capex has been slow to respond is this fear of being swamped by China. While the Indian government has been cognisant of this risk, we still see the administrative machinery as being too slow to respond. Anti-dumping actions take too long, and we don't appear agile or fully coordinated on non-tariff barriers at the policymaking level.

India is the largest market in the Global South and is hugely attractive to China, given its need for the sophisticated, higher value-added goods that China now excels in. We are also in many products China's only potential future competitor. We need to give our industry the time and space to respond to the threat of Chinese dumping and to move up the value curve ourselves. We have limited time to get our house in order by fixing factor markets and cutting regulatory cholesterol. The only way to create enough good jobs is by increasing our share of manufacturing. This will remain out of reach if we allow China unimpeded access to our markets and fail to fix our structural cost inefficiencies.

The Chinese manufacturing machine is formidable. With a trillion-dollar trade surplus, its scale and competitiveness are unmatched. As the world erects barriers to guard against deindustrialisation and protect supply chains, India will have no choice but to follow suit.
